Dear Governor Cooper:

The Nov. 18 editorial in the News & Observer clearly stated my objections to the Atlantic Coast Pipeline. I hope that you will hold firm against approving its passage through North Carolina. I agree with the newspaper's assessment that the gas pipeline is unnecessary, will contribute to climate change, and could seriously dampen investment in renewable technologies, which are so clearly needed at this point in our history--both here in North Carolina as well as throughout the world. The very troubling problems with methane leakage and massive pipeline leaks signify that it's time to move away from natural gas.

Please be firm!
